

Getting to the Heart of Prosperity

An InstaBook by

Third John 2 (KJV) says, “Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.”

That single verse speaks to prosperity for our spirit, soul and body.

But what is prosperity?

Kenneth Copeland says, “True prosperity is the ability to use the power of God to meet the needs of mankind in every realm of life—spirit, soul, body, financially and socially.”

Meeting the needs of mankind—that’s what it’s all about.

Sure, it's wonderful to be blessed,
to drive a nice car and have a good home, but the fullness of prosperity is when it comes through us and goes into other people's lives.

Not long ago, I ate lunch with a large group of people, and the bill came to $130. I added a $100 tip.

When the waitress saw it, she returned to give thanks. It meant so much to her, and her thankfulness brought tears to my eyes.

That's prosperity in action.

Our motivation for accumulation is distribution.

We are distributors not only of the Word of God, but also of what it has produced in our lives.

God isn't prospering us so we can get deeper into debt. He's prospering us so we can bless others.

As Brother Copeland says, “A man’s life consists not in the abundance of the things he possesses, but in the abundance of the things that he sows.”

That’s the heart of prosperity.
